

Tamika Catchings

March 2015 Calendar

Tamika Catchings is no stranger to success on the basketball court. The hoops star has been named to the WNBA All-Star team nine times, while being on the All-WNBA team 11 times. She has been awarded the WNBA's Defensive Player of the Year a record five times, and finally received the league MVP honors in 2011, despite being voted in the top five in 10 of her 13 professional seasons.

Since being drafted out of the University of Tennessee, where she won a national championship, Tamika has played for the Indiana Fever, helping the team bring home the 2012 WNBA Championship. When she is not representing her WNBA team, she is representing the U.S. National Team, where she is a three-time Olympic and two-time World Championship gold medalist. She also served as a team captain in the 2012 Summer Olympics.

Off the court, Tamika keeps a busy schedule as the current president of the WNBA Players Association. She also remains active in the community, is an ambassador for a "Dribble to Stop Diabetes" campaign, a spokesperson for Indy's Super Cure and has appeared with First Lady Michelle Obama in her "Let's Move!" tour.

Tamika is the owner of several WNBA records, including most career free throws made as well as steals. She also is in the top five in several other statistical categories. While she doesn't plan on retiring until 2016, she plans to continue her work that best exemplifies the characteristics of being a leader in the community.
